

Brand PDFs are for 2010!

Your brand should be able to do the work.

FUCK BRAND PDFs.

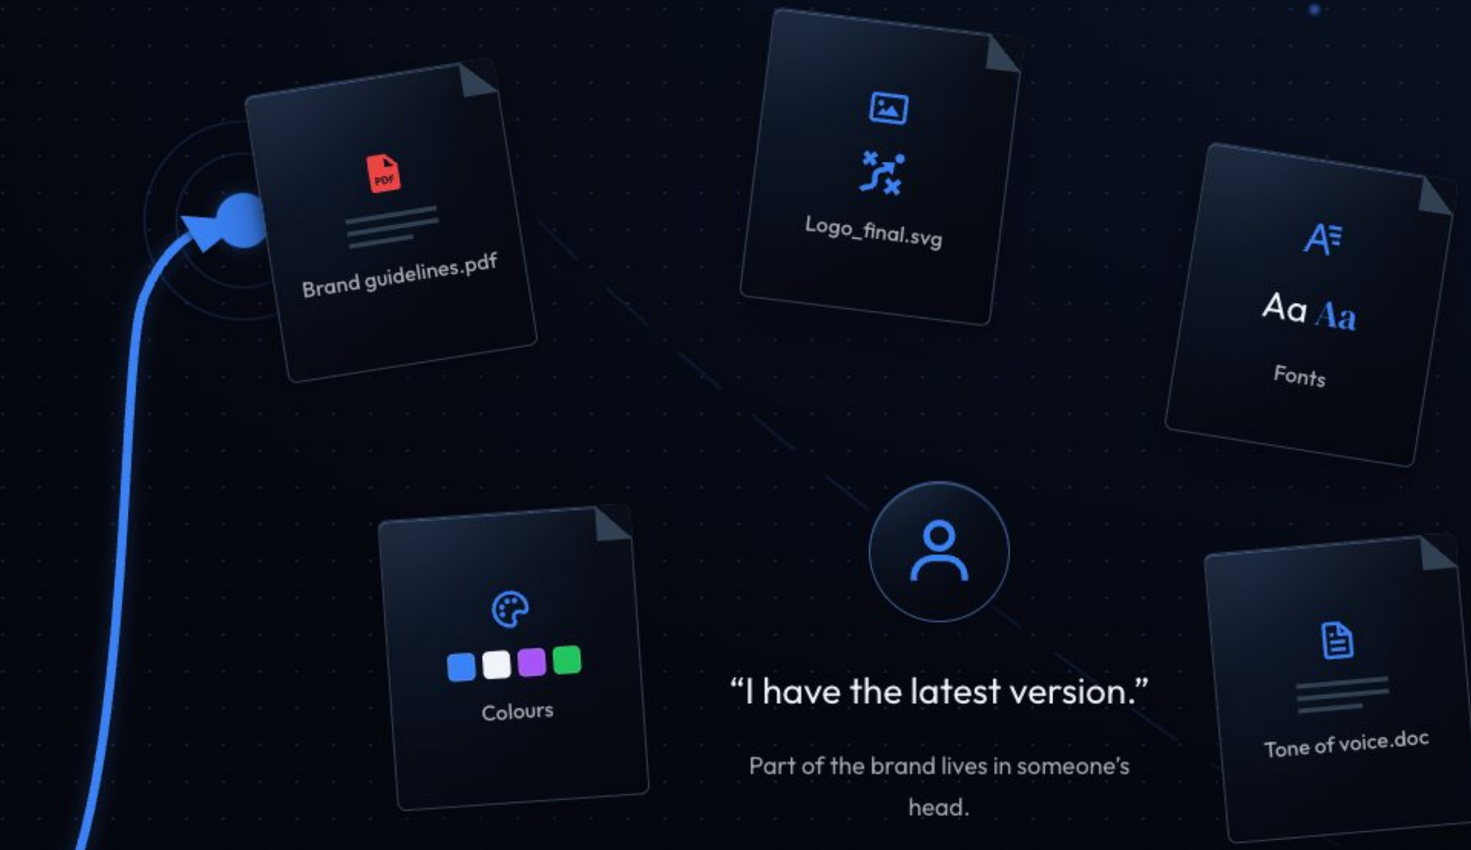

Build an executable brand infrastructure. Not a static brand document.

Your brand is more than a pile of files.

Your brand is all over the place.

The logo is in a folder. The rules are in a PDF. The template is in a design file. And the rest is in someone's head.

Turn it into an AI Brand Infrastructure.

One connected system your team and AI agents can actually use.

Start with your brand assets.

The current logo, fonts, colours and imagery.

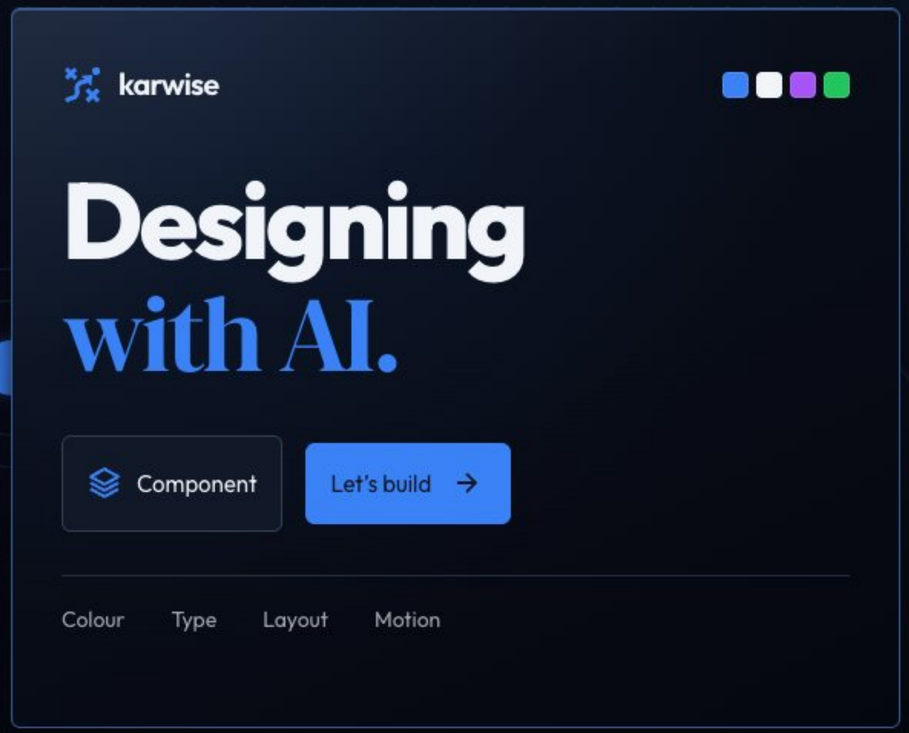

One source for the files you actually use.

Turn the rules into a design system.

Actual type, spacing, components and layouts. So the agent uses your design, instead of guessing it.

Give it your voice.

Your brand documents and writing examples.

The words should be yours, too.

Now the brand is a usable system.

Assets + design system + voice. Together, ready to work.

A template for what you make.

A post, a story, a carousel. Each composition uses the same design system.

All powered by your design system.

Save the process as a workflow.

Read the brief. Write in your voice. Use the template. Produce the content.

Design system + brand voice + story template

Connect it all to your agent.

Design system, brand documents, templates and workflows. The agent gets the whole picture.

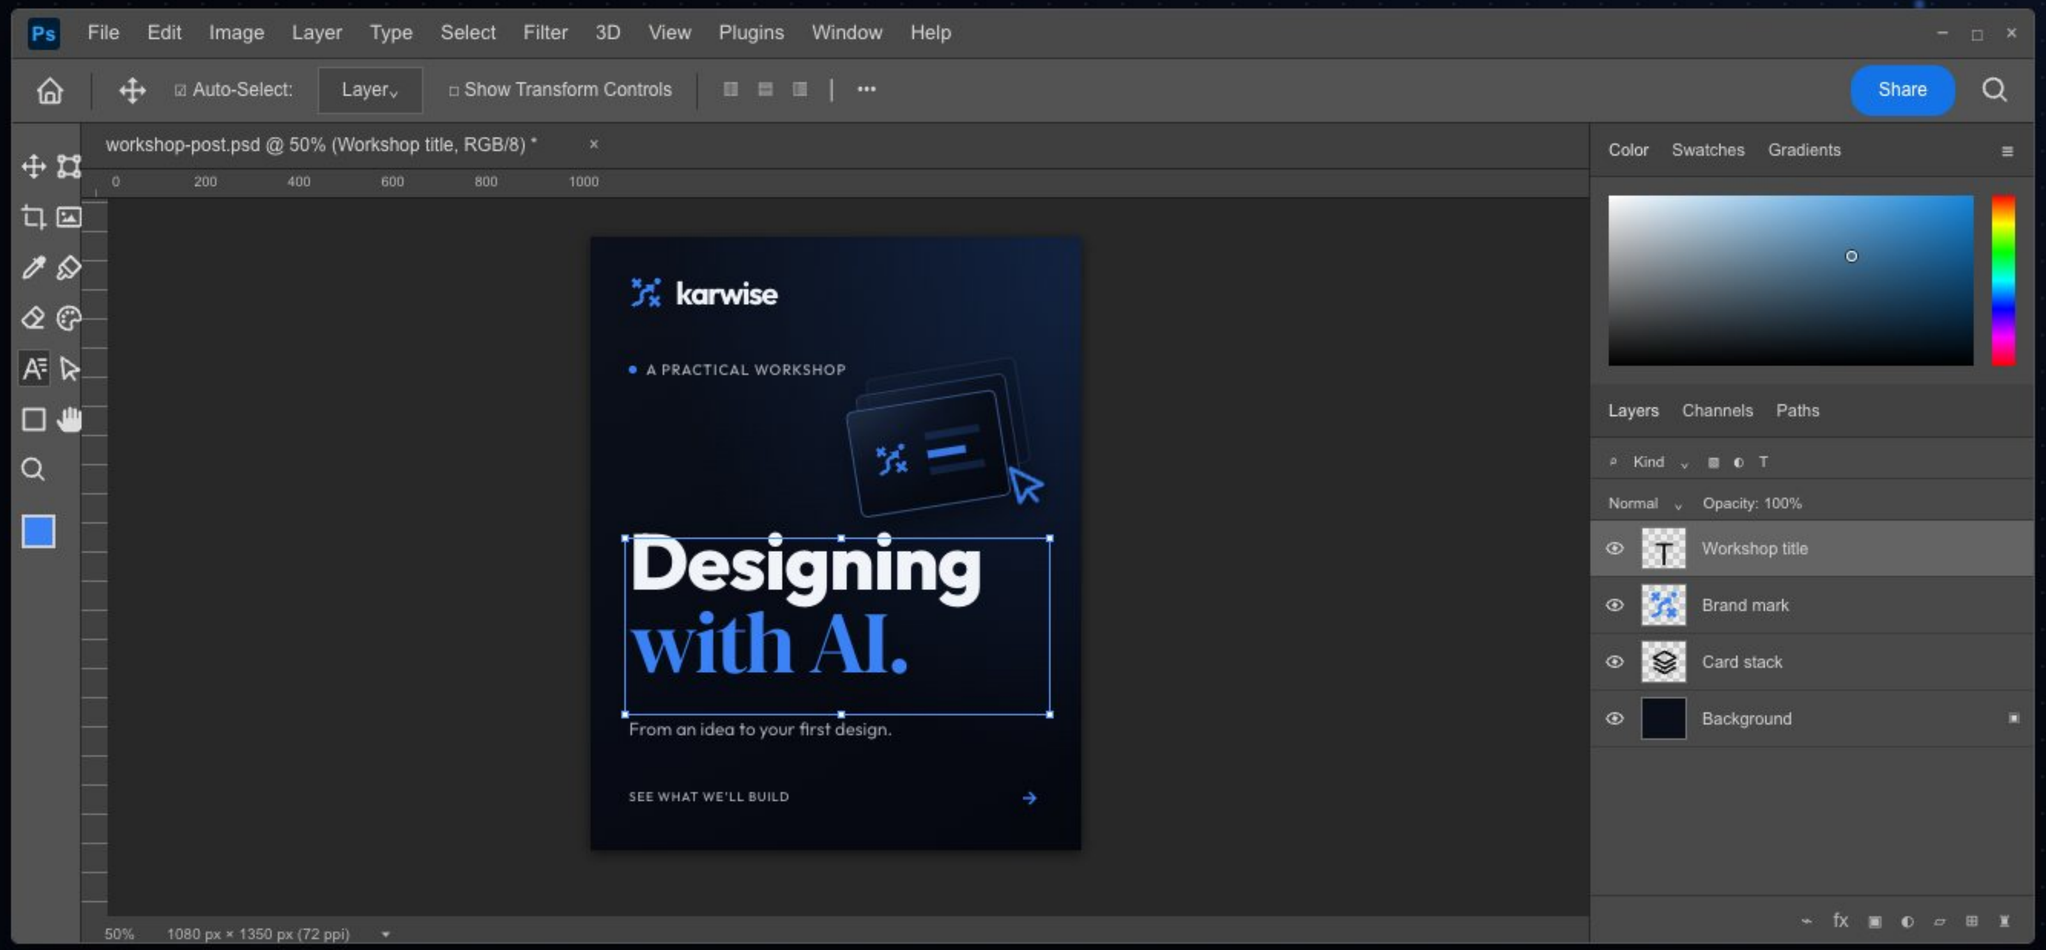

Your idea. Your branded content.

Let’s make an Instagram post for the same workshop.

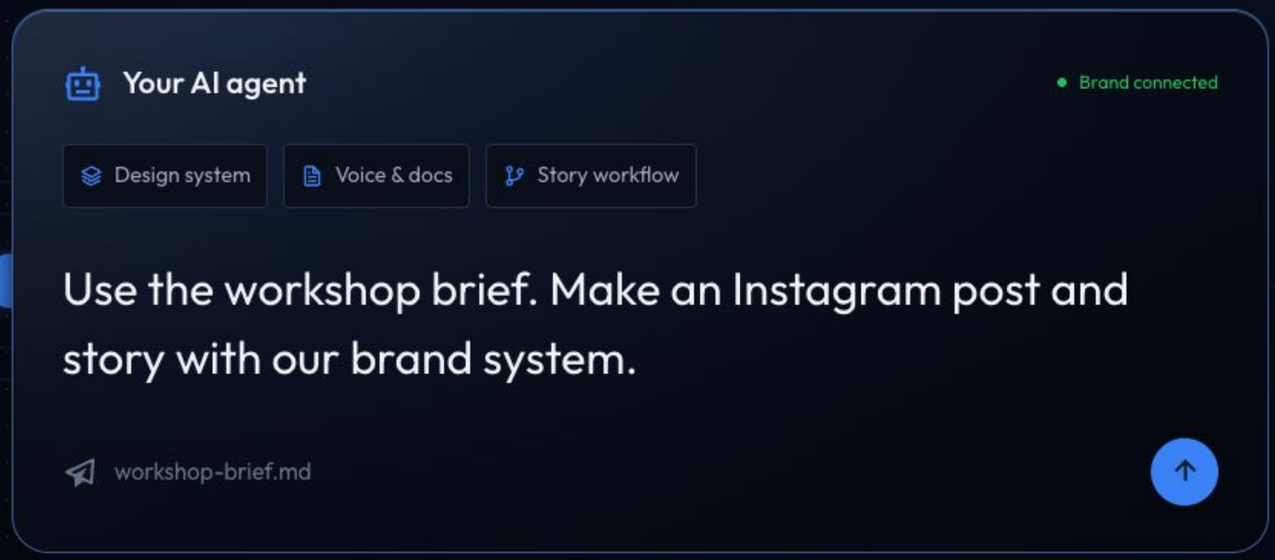

This used to mean building it by hand.

Open the design. Find the layers. Change the copy, fonts, colours and sizes. Then make the story version.

Now, just give it the idea.

The brand, template and process are already connected.

The agent follows your workflow.

Same brief. Your voice. Your template. A post and story made with your brand.

That's AI Brand Infrastructure.

Your idea goes in. The connected brand system and workflow help your agent turn it into content.

You bring the idea. Your brand is ready.

Less explaining the same brand. More making the things you have in mind.
